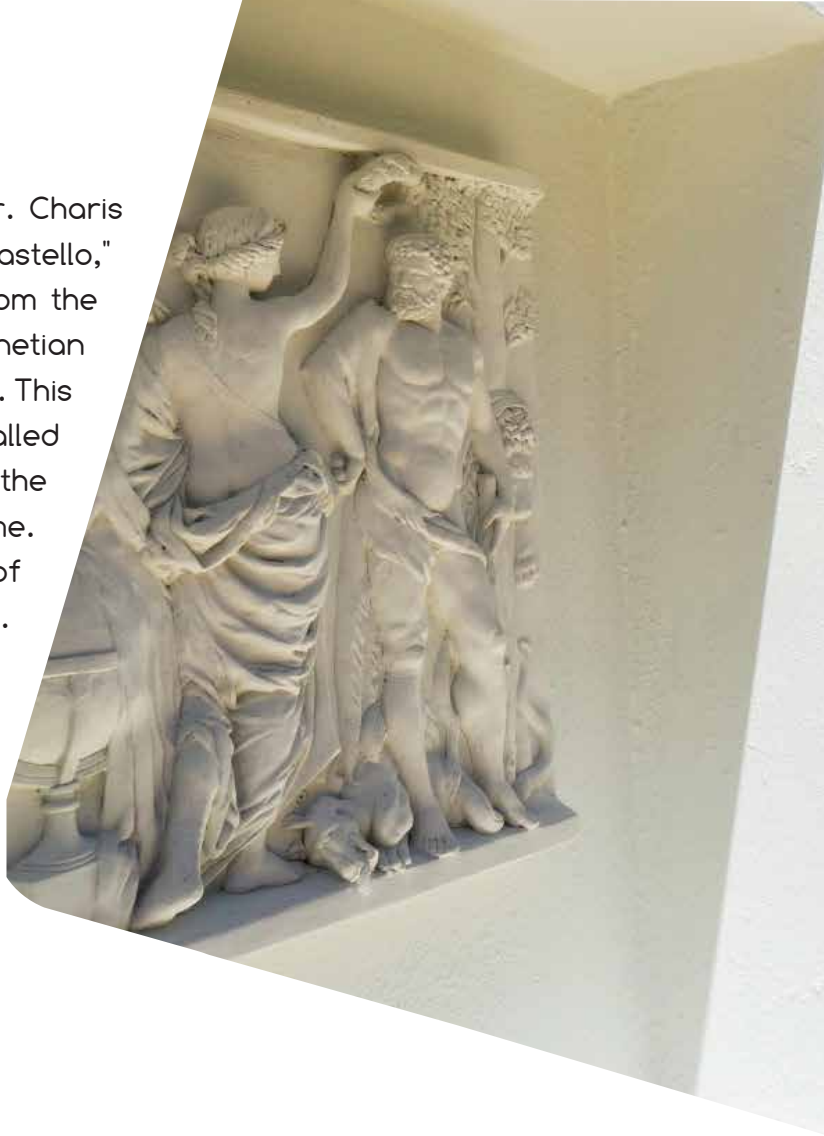
HISTORICAL REFERENCES

The Castello Hotels Group was founded by Mr. Charis Kasmirlis, who was inspired by the Italian word "castello," meaning castle. This inspiration was drawn from the famous castle Rocca a Mare, built during the Venetian occupation of Crete at the old harbor of the city. This castle, known today as "Koules," was also called "Castel di Candia," or the Castle of Candia, as the city of Heraklion was called "Candia" at the time. The history of the Castello Hotels Group is one of dedication, hard work, and inspiration by Mr. Kasmirlis. After searching many places on the island, he found Sissi. The charming seaside village was the perfect place for the construction of his second hotel, the Castello Village Resort in 1990.



LOCATION

Located in the beautiful and peaceful traditional village of Sisi, just 45km east of Heraklion on the island of Crete, 24km west of the cosmopolitan small town of Agios Nikolaos. Nestled along the winding coastal path, surrounded by olive groves and the crystal-clear waters of the Mediterranean, Sisi is a true paradise for nature lovers. With its stunning views of the sea and mountains, colorful fishing boats, and plenty of hiking trails, it's no wonder that Sisi is a popular destination for those seeking authenticity and a break from the crowds.

Despite its peaceful atmosphere, Sisi is not without amenities, offering a range of accommodation options for all tastes and budgets.
